Why Use Recycled Plastic Products?

Help protect the environment.

Plastic products are not biodegradable or photodegradable when disposed in landfills.

MORCO's recycled plastic products use plastic directly from the waste stream to produce great looking products designed to have a long service life.

Help reduce our dependency on foreign oil.

Every plastic item in the world contains petroleum in one form or another. Now and in the future, we all can help by recycling and using recycled products in our everyday lives.

Help generate jobs.

A few years ago, there was little call for recycling of any kind. As demand grows for the whole recycling process, jobs will be produced. Collectors, separators, processors, and more types of jobs will become available as recycling is required by states and communities.
